

The Role of the key person and settling in Policy Statement

We believe that children settle best when they have a key person to relate to, who knows them and their parents well, and who can meet their individual needs. Research shows that a key person approach benefits the child, the parents, the staff, and the setting by providing secure relationships in which children thrive, parents have confidence, staff are committed and the setting is a happy and dedicated place to attend or work in.

We want children to feel safe, stimulated, and happy in the setting and to feel secure and comfortable with staff. We also want parents to have confidence in both their children's well being and their roles as active partners with the setting.

We aim to make the setting a welcoming place where children settle quickly and easily because consideration has been given to the individual needs and circumstances of children and their families.

The key person role is set out in the Safeguarding and Welfare requirements of the Early Years Foundation Stage. Each setting must assign a key person for each child.

The procedures set out a model for developing a key person approach that promotes effective and positive relationships for children who are in settings.

Procedures

- We allocate a key person before the child starts.
- The key person is responsible for the induction of the family and for settling the child into our setting.
- The key person offers unconditional regard for the child and is non-judgemental.
- The key person works with the parents to plan and deliver personalised plan for the child's well-being, care, and learning.
- The key person acts as the key contact for the parents and has links with other carers involved with the child, such as childminders, and co-ordinates the sharing of appropriate information about the child's development with those carers.
- The key person is responsible for developmental records and for sharing information on a regular basis with the child's parents to keep those records up-to-date, reflecting the full picture of the child in our setting and at home.

- The key person encourages positive relationships between children in her/his key group, spending time with them as a group each day.
- We promote the role of the key person as the child's primary carer in our setting, and as the basis for establishing relationships with other staff and children.

Settling-in

- Before a child starts to attend Lilliput Pre-school, we use a variety of ways to provide his/her parents with information; these include written information, displays about activities available within the setting and meetings with the parents.
- We provide opportunities for the child and his/her parents to visit the setting.
- We allocate a key person to each child before he/she starts to attend, the key person welcomes and looks after the child during the first session and during the settling-in process.
- We use pre visit and the first session at which the child attends to explain and complete, with his/her parents the registration records.
- When a child starts to attend, we explain the process of settling-in and jointly decide on the best way to help the child settle into the setting.
- We have an expectation that the parent/carer will stay for most of the session during the first week, gradually taking time away from their child, increasing this as and when the child is able to cope.
- Younger children will take longer to settle in, as will children who have not previously spent time away from home. Children who have a period of absence may also need their parent to be on hand to re settle them.
- We judge a child to be settled when they have formed a relationship with their key person; for example, the child looks for the key person when he/she arrives, goes to them for comfort, and seems pleased to be with them. The child is also familiar with where things are and is pleased to see other children and participate in activities.
- When parents leave, we ask them to say goodbye to their child and explain that they will be coming back, and when.
- We recognise that some children will settle more readily than others, but some children who appear to settle rapidly are not ready to be left. We expect that the parent will honour the commitment to stay for at least the first week, or possibly longer, until their child can stay happily without them.

- We do not believe that leaving a child to cry will help them to settle any quicker. We believe that a child's distress will prevent them from learning and gaining the best from the setting.
- We reserve the right not to accept a child into the setting without a parent or carer if the child finds it distressing to be left. This is especially the case with very young children.
- Within the first four to six weeks of starting, we discuss and work with the child's parents to begin to create their child's learning journey profile.

The progress check at age two

The key person carries out the progress check at age two in accordance with any local procedures that are in place.

The progress check aims to review the child's development and ensures that parents have a clear picture of their child's development.

Within the progress check, the key person will note the areas where the child is progressing well and identify areas where progress is less than expected.

The progress check will describe the actions what will be taken by the setting to address any developmental concerns (including working with other professional where appropriate) as agreed with the parent(s).

The key person will plan activities to meet the child's needs with the manager and will support parents to understand the child's needs in order to enhance their development at home.
